What kind of analysis will match my objectives?

What statistical tool should I use?

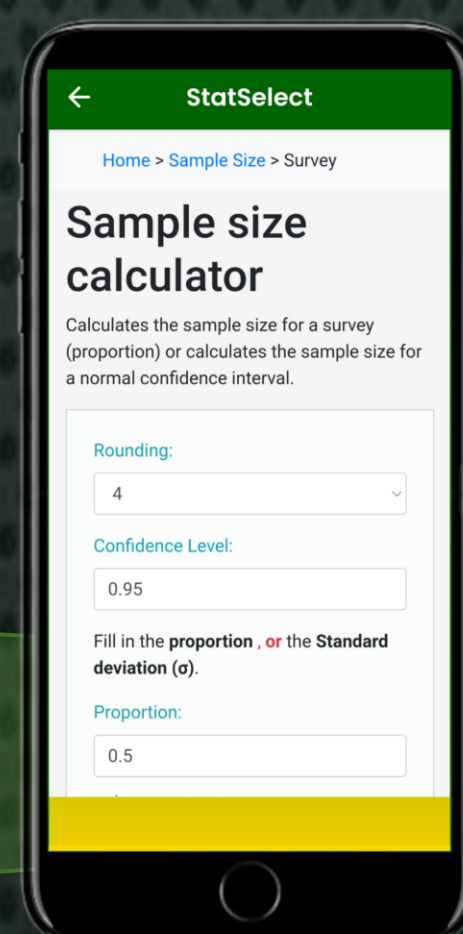

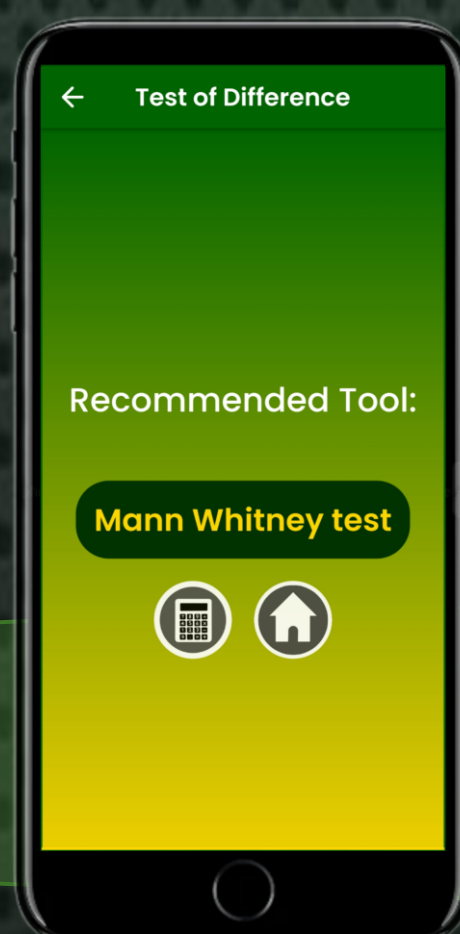

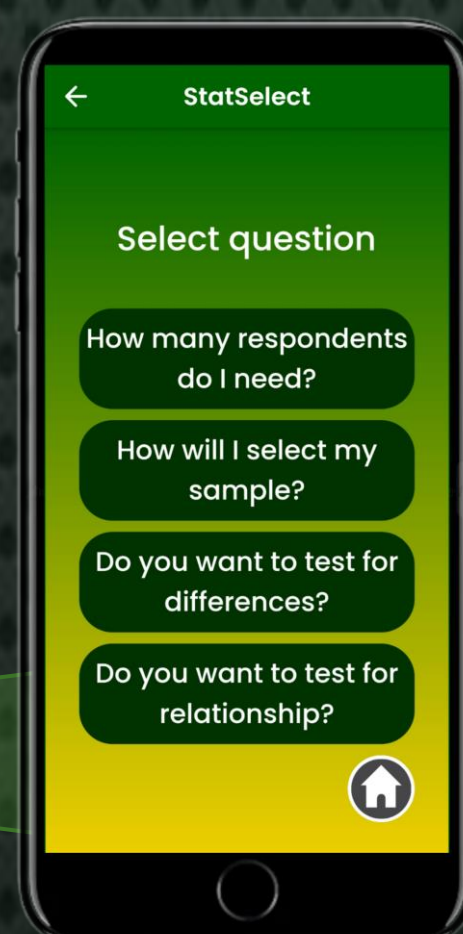

How do I interpret the statistical results?

If you have experienced any of these questions, then StatSelect is the tool for you!

StatSelect was developed by a team of mathematics and statistics faculty of the University of Southern Mindanao.

Through StatSelect, you can:

- Learn how to perform your statistical analysis
- Get guidance on how to interpret your results.

Determine an appropriate statistical tool for your data.

Review important definitions needed in your study.

A lot of activities to choose from.

See examples and learn how to write your results.

Be directed to online tools to run your statistical analysis.
